

Snoop Dog, the K9 Detective, is the first certified Mold & Chinese Drywall Detective in the U.S.

NBC recently followed his story, which was highlighted on the local NBC news, demonstrating Snoop's certified gift to "sniff out hidden problems" that many times we humans, just can't see. The service is cost effective and non-destructive to the home.

Many different companies have shown interest in Snoop and scheduled our Team to speak at one of their meetings to hear details about his detective service and how it may benefit their group and clients.

If your company would benefit from such a presentation, please contact me at my direct number on the bottom of this email. These are limited to 15 minutes to accommodate your busy schedule.

Also, feel free to share my contact information with anyone that you feel would benefit from our K9 Detective Service and having confirmation that mold or Chinese drywall exists within their home and exactly where!

Respectfully,

Pamela Moore
